Musical Festival Committee Hears Report

Annual Meeting to be Held on Monday, Dec. 13 in Greenhill Hotel at 8 p.m. All Interested Are Invited.

The executive and financial committees of Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival met in the Greenhill hotel on Monday evening, when the tentative report for the 1937 festival was submitted by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Farmer.

An interesting report was also submitted by Mr. W. H. Chappell, giving not only the details of the box office receipts for this year, but also a comparative statement covering the past six years. This year showed a decline in attendance which resulted in about $70 less revenue from door receipts. He asked the committee to seriously consider the report, and suggested that they give some thought towards making suggestions as to how programs could be so arranged to draw more people, particularly in the evenings. These could be dealt with by the new executive which will be appointed in the regular way at the annual meeting to be held on Monday, December 13.

Legion Club Plans Under Discussion

New Building Committee Appointed—Complete Contract Arrangements as Early as Possible

A new building committee appointed by the Canadian Legion includes Bert Garrett, J. L. Lonsbury and Ray L. Steurbaut, who have interviewed Contractor D'Appollonia to discuss plans for building.

The estimates provide for a building to cost approximately $8,000, with furnishings additional. The building would be erected immediately west of the Empire Hotel, on a piece of land purchased last year from the C. P. R.

Of the purchase price, $4500 must be paid by June 1, and the balance in monthly payments of $70 with interest half-yearly. The Legion has promises of $2,000 in donations or loans, and applications for bonds amounting to $1250. It also has $900 cash. No agreement to erect the building has been signed, though the committee is using every effort to comply with the terms of the contract to assure that the required payments will be made in accordance with the terms.

The licensing commission has stated it would grant a license to sell beer, as a committee of the Legion interviewed E. O. Duke, M.L.A., on a recent visit here, and he promised his influence to secure a license.

Meetings of the Legion members were held on Friday and Sunday nights to fully discuss the building plans and hear reports. Messrs. Barnes and Halliwell, two members of the previous committee, in submitting their report, estimated a total expenditure of $10,000 would be required to complete and furnish the whole building.

Pee Wee Hockey Sponsors Wanted

Sufficient Names For Ten Teams—Only Three Sponsors. Lodges Asked To Co-Operate

Frank Abousaify is marking time while various lodges decide whether or not they will sponsor Pee Wee hockey teams. Sufficient names for ten teams have been secured but so far only the Elks, Polish Society and Pattinson's Hardware are certain sponsors. Other lodges have been solicited but have given no decision.

It is estimated that it will cost approximately $75 to outfit a team. Masonic, Italian, Slovak, Oddfellows and a number of others should consider sponsoring a team as it gives the lodge valuable publicity, gives the members an interest in the little fellows and may start some local "Howie Morens" on a glittering career in hockey. There's a future in hockey to-day! Give the kids that chance when they are at an age when they should start training to become hockey players.

A committee of three members is all that is needed to look after their lodge's team along with a cash grant which should be sufficient to equip the team. The hockey season is coming closer; ice is almost available for the youngsters, it is up to local organizations to play the role of good samaritans.

Canadians Receive $800 From Booster Club

Contributions collected by the Canadians Booster club totalled $950 on Tuesday with several places still to be solicited. The bulk of the fund was subscribed to by the miners, cheques amounting to $301.25 from McGillivray and $354.00 from the International companies being received.

A cheque for $200 had been given the hockey club on Oct. 18 and at a meeting between hockey and Booster club executives on Tuesday evening a further $600 was given the hockey club. The balance, after deducting wages for R. Jenkins and Jack Jackson who canvassed International and McGillivray mines respectively, will be held by the Booster club as a reserve fund.

President Harry Gardner, of the hockey club, submitted a statement showing expenses to date, and the estimated cost of the season's activities. Traveling expenses alone is estimated at $2500. A minimum "gate" of $450 for each game will see the club on the right side of the ledger at the end of the season.

President Wm. Bell will call a public meeting of the Booster club shortly to discuss future plans. It is the general opinion that a fund should be started to support all sports and this subject will be discussed in detail.

Boy Scout Leader Coming Tuesday

R. H. Johnson, assistant executive secretary, will be here Tuesday and will have a movie projector and Scout films. He will meet all interested in Scouting, parents as well as boys.

In a letter to The Journal he states: "I would be pleased if you would get in touch with N. J. Nicholas, M. Stigler, exalted ruler of the Elks, Mr. Brown and Mrs. Borden, who is interested in getting the mothers together to organize a Cub Pack. In this way I could meet all of them at one time, as I have only one day in Coleman."

CO-OPERATE WITH POST-OFFICE STAFF

Miss Mary O'Connell of Lethbridge has been engaged as assistant at the post-office to help cope with the usual Christmas rush. Post-master Graham would appreciate those having parcels and Christmas mail, for forwarding to distant points, to leave same early. Also he asks that to enable his staff to give better service, that children be advised by their parents to call only once a day, as so many calls are made on the post-office employees in the pre-Christmas rush that elimination of unnecessary labor is essential in order to give efficient service to the public.

Printed matter ordered from The Journal is done by Coleman workers. Outsiders come in and endeavor to secure the business, but contribute nothing either in retail business or taxes towards the town. As long as they can make a living off local business men, that is as far as their interest lies in community affairs. Journal workers are also taking their full part as community builders.

First Straight Contest on Social Credit Issue Brings Complete Reversal of Election of 1935

Indicates Support Falling Rapidly Despite Frantic Efforts of Premier and Cabinet Ministers to Secure Victory—Lethbridge Wildly Celebrated Success of Unity Candidate, Dr. Peter Campbell.

Aberhart's Specially Selected Candidate Defeated By 770 Majority in Lethbridge

Result Had Been Eagerly Awaited By People of All Shades of Public Opinion Throughout Dominion—Premier's Personal Efforts in Campaign Accentuates Significance of Repudiation by Lethbridge Majority

Dr. Campbell netted 3980 votes and Burnap 3210 in the election on Thursday at Lethbridge. It was a straight contest on the issue of Social Credit, intensified by the presence of Premier Aberhart and cabinet ministers and legislative during the campaign. They strove to rally support, but failed, the verdict being a complete reversal of the 1935 election when Hans Wight, Social Credit candidate, secured 3,700 votes of a total of 6,641 in a four-cornered contest. This time there were 649 more votes cast than in 1935.

Even the mining camp polls in North Lethbridge and Labor polls, where Social Credit majorities were looked for showed reduction on the 1935 results, again emphasizing the slipping away of Social Credit support.

Premier Aberhart had concentrated strongly on the Labor and Communist vote, and it must be a bitter disappointment to find that among those to whom his emotional appeals and extravagant promises were calculated to retain support, gave their support to the Unity candidate. The record of the past three months must be disquietening to Social Credit forces. In Edmonton a by-election was won by E. I. Gray, Liberal, over the veteran Joe Clarke, to whom Social Crediters gave their support in the majority contest a short time after Clarke was again defeated. In Calgary Premier Aberhart made a strong appeal for votes for Alderman Leisner against Mayor Andy Davidson, and his favorite was defeated. Now in the Lethbridge election, the first straight test of public opinion on governmental policies, the 1935 result has been completely reversed.

R. C. Drew, secretary of the People's League of Alberta, sent the following telegram to Dr. Campbell: "All sane Alberta citizens rejoice with you to-night. Your splendid victory indicates the forces working for unity and demonstrates that Alberta people approve representatives of integrity and ability."

The trend from Social Credit is significant. It shows that promises are no longer regarded with sincerity, and that failing to produce results promised of dividends and the abolition of poverty in the midst of abundance has accentuated the reaction in public opinion against Premier Aberhart.

Kootenay League To Open Dec. 11 At Lethbridge

The official Kootenay hockey league schedule has not yet been released due to some changes asked by one or two teams, but it is practically certain that Coleman and Lethbridge will open the schedule at Lethbridge on Saturday, Dec. 11.

At the request of several fans who anticipate attending the game, the local club has asked Lethbridge to reserve a block of seats for Coleman fans and to send up a number of tickets to be sold at a local store or hotel. The team will be travelling by bus and there will be several vacant seats. Those wishing to travel by bus are asked to make reservations at the Grand Union and should there be sufficient names to make it worth while sponsoring a second bus arrangements will be made to do so.

Miss Lottie Nicholas, with ticket 107, won the quilt drawn for at the sale of work sponsored by the ladies auxiliary of St. Alban's church recently.

Mrs. Kilgannon sr. was hostess at her home on Wednesday evening to a number of lady friends at a bridge party. Prize winners were Mrs. J. J. McIntyre, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. A. Anderson consolation. Mrs. J. Kinnear won the travelling prize.

Large Crowds Attend Hockey Practices at Arena

Newcomers Attract Attention—Local Players Show Flashing Form—15 Players Signed Up.

Hockey interest has reached a new high during the past two weeks as crowds estimated at 500 gather to view the 1937-38 edition of Canadians. Interest, as expected, is centering on the newcomers, some of whom are showing up well. Schnepf at the present time is catching the eye of fans. He was here on two occasions last winter with Calgary Radios and made a good showing. Fast, a good stick-handler and a persistent back-checker, makes him a valuable aid to his team. This is his first year in senior hockey and he is determined to make good.

Ainsworth is another player who is being keenly watched. Jack, last year in Lethbridge, was noted for his lack of back-checking once his opponents secured the puck. In practices, however, he is showing up well and does his share of back-checking. Dick Matthews, of the Lethbridge Herald, noticed this and remarked that it was the first time he had seen Ainsworth backcheck.

From a turn-out of 23 players at the start of practices, Coach Jemson cut the players down to 15 on Sunday evening, and they will all be signed up. Bates and Wollenbeck were let out Sunday morning and will return to their homes.

Last year's players are showing plenty of speed. It is surmised that since they had to play real hockey this year to hold their positions they are showing more earnestness and therefore better form. Brown and Lopichuk seem to have taken a new lease of life and are real contenders for honors in the local line-up.

Negotiations are still being made to secure Coach Jemson's amateur card for Jan. 1 and it is likely that he will get it. Other former pros. in Alberta are in the same fix as Jemson.

Local Players on All Star Team

W. Fraser, J. Joyce and Mike Lopichuk Chosen to Represent Canadians At Lethbridge

Dick Matthews, sports editor of the Lethbridge Herald, was in town Monday evening to pick three players to appear on an All Star team to oppose Lethbridge Maple Leafs at Lethbridge on Wednesday, Dec. 8, in aid of the Gyros' Christmas Cheer fund. Bill Fraser, Jimmy Joyce and Mike Lopichuk were chosen as a forward line to represent Coleman.

The Gyro club sponsor a hockey game each year in aid of their Christmas Cheer fund and expect to exceed themselves this year as a result of the starry array of talent from which to choose. 3500 fans are expected to attend.

Friends will appreciate a personal greeting card at Christmas. Order from The Journal now, and have them ready in good time. From $1.00 per dozen printed with name and address, and with envelopes.

Resources For Western Benefit

The petroleum industry in Western Canada has been making great forward strides in the past few months and these recent developments indicate that the time may not be far distant when American sources of supply of crude will be shut off altogether and the entire consumption requirements of at least the prairie provinces be furnished from Western Canadian wells.

Such consummation of the aspirations of producers in what is at present the largest Western Canadian crude oil field, Turner Valley in Alberta, is not only highly desirable, but undoubtedly can be achieved in the very near future, provided producers, consumers, refining organizations, both privately and co-operatively owned, and the transportation companies sink any differences there may be between all or any of them and work together as a unit for the achievement of this objective.

There is no longer any doubt as to the capacity of the Turner Valley field to supply all Western Canadian requirements. As a source of supply of crude oil of excellent quality for possibly many years to come Turner Valley is a proven field and is not only able to supply all consumer demand in the prairie provinces but probably contains reserves sufficient to supply other markets as well. The oil is here. The market is here. All that is required is to make it economically feasible for the two to connect, and that means as cheap transportation as can be provided without loss to the carriers.

A Move Is Made

Some steps in this direction have already been taken by a reduction in railway rates on trainloads between the Turner Valley field and Regina, Saskatchewan, where a number of refineries are located. As a result, Imperial Oil Ltd. have announced their intention of expanding their already large plant in Regina, providing for a substantially increased number of employees. Smaller independent and co-operative refineries in the same city have also announced they are prepared to expand materially provided they are permitted to share in reduced transportation charges by a reduction in carlot rates comparable with the lowered trainload rates.

The owners of the large privately-operated refining plant have announced that they are not opposing the application of the smaller concerns for reduced freight rates on carlot basis, but railway officials appearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners contested representations for such reduction. Arguments on both sides were presented and the matter was left in the hands of the Railway Board for a decision.

Pipeline Cheaper

From the viewpoint of both producer and consumer, however, chief interest must have centred in the unduplicated announcement by transportation company representatives that trainload rates were reduced to meet threats of the mooted construction of a pipeline to carry the crude oil from the field near Calgary to Regina refineries, and the further admission that oil could be conveyed by this method more cheaply than by rail even under the reduced trainload rate, available in practice only to the large concern.

By agreement between the producing companies, production at the wells has been projected at 35 per cent. of capacity now, in itself proof that the field requires a much larger market than economic restrictions at present permit.

What Might Be Done

This dual situation at the source of supply and at the smaller refineries, coupled with the information revealed at the hearing before the Board of Railway Commissioners, predicated the feasibility of some of the producers and the independent and co-operative refineries joining forces to finance a pipeline, unless some reasonable freight rate concession is granted the latter. The statement that crude can be carried more cheaply through a pipeline than by rail under lowered trainload rates seems to give a cue to the course that might be adopted by the smaller companies, if sufficient volume could be assured to make such a project economically sound.

It is to be hoped, however, that some allowance will be made to place the smaller refineries on a more competitive basis and that such concessions can be made only to the extent of consignments to Regina but to all points in the prairie provinces where refineries are located. Such policy would ensure that all crude oil traffic available would be enjoyed by the railways and would undoubtedly result in material expansion in volume in the future, a result which should inure to the benefit of the transportation companies in the long run as well as to producers, the small refineries and the consumers.

Economic Balance Needed

From Saskatchewan alone it is estimated that not less than $10,000,000 a day has been finding its way into the treasuries of producers on the other side of the international boundary and American railways. Anything that can be done to divert this to the advantage of Western Canadian oil producers and the Canadian railways should also benefit the taxpayers and consumers of this country.

It has often been said, and with truth, that western economic life is not well balanced. Any steps which can be taken to develop western resources for western consumption, as well as other markets for any surplus, is a step in the direction of providing for a better economic balance.

'Plane For King George

Was Especially Constructed And Will Carry Four Passengers
Emulating his royal ancestors, with their specially built carriages for their pleasure or for affairs of state, King George VI, an aviation enthusiast like his brother, the Duke of Windsor, now has a monoplane constructed especially for him.

Although the King, who was once a group captain in the British Royal Air Force, has already flown in the new monoplane, details of its construction have just been revealed by the Society of British Aircraft Constructors, Ltd. The airplane is a low-wing craft built largely of wood and is powered by two Daimler-Benz 12-cylinder, air-cooled engines of 350 horsepower.

In general, the royal airplane is similar to the standard British Airspeed Envoy transport monoplane, series 3. However, it has many luxurious accommodations not found on the standard Envoy, including armchair seats for four passengers. Each of the seats is fitted with its own table, which has tumbler holders and ash trays.

Room has been made on the royal airplane for steward, and the refreshment cabinet in his charge is located in the rear of the cabin. There is also space for the fitting of an occasional fifth passenger seat by the fuselage door.

A leather screen separates the cockpit from the cabin. The Air Council, which placed the order for the royal airplane, decided that radio equipment and a place for a radio operator should be located just behind the pilot, and because of this it was necessary to shift the forward bulkhead about nine inches.

The cabin is sound proof. Thick velvet curtains cover its doorway and deaden the propeller noise. Fuel pumps and the engines cannot enter the interior.

The plane has a retractable undercarriage which reduces air resistance to a minimum and allows the airplane to cruise easily at 150 miles an hour. The maximum speed level is 210 miles an hour, and the range is 650 miles in still air.

Chinese Show Heroism

Even If They Do Accept Death With Inevitable Calm

The story of the "doomed battalion of Chapei" the 150 Chinese who refused to lay down their arms and go safely into the British Settlement is an example of that supreme heroism which only tragedy can produce.

War must always be a sordid, terrible thing. But it also produces epic heroism like this—and thousands of others beneath black coats which have ventured no farther than Margate or Blackpool but quicker when they read of it.

It is a favorite belief of the Westerner that the Oriental is persuaded by his philosophy to accept death with inevitable calm. This does not make the decision of the battalion any less heroic. Mankind's love of life is the same the world over.

The bravery of this handful of men will always rank as one of the great stories in the blood-soaked pages of the history of Shanghai—London Sunday Dispatch.

One Line Started Career

Canadian Born Opera Star Got Chance During World War

The Great War gave Margaret Hamilton-born opera star of "Three Waltzes" her chance on the stage.

The beautiful blonde who has just made her American debut at the Boston opera house recounted the story of her success as she rested between acts of the musical extravaganza. Miss Bannerman is a native of Toronto.

Her parents were living in war years in Folkestone, England, a center of activities for the Canadian troops and their families. Everyone was doing war work and being too young to do anything else Margaret volunteered to sing at one of the entertainments for the soldiers. This concert was really the beginning of her theatrical career.

Her song impressed Producer Paul Rubens and she was sent to Teddy Royce, then selecting players for a musical comedy. During the second week of rehearsal, the stage manager called out:

"Come here, Canada! Try reading this line."

In spite of all her nervousness, she managed it well. She said: "Here comes Tina!" a voice that was loud enough to be heard across the footlights.

Having covered herself with glory thus far, she gave her another line, which was to be sung, and Margaret Hamilton was big singing and speaking lines on English and Dominion stages ever since.

ALICE STEVENS' RECIPES

USE LEAVENING AGENTS ACCORDING TO RULES

Have you ever started to make a cake and when the work was well under way, you suddenly realized that the baking powder tin was empty? If you are a housewife, the underlying principle of leavening agents you will have a very little difficulty if you use the most likely solution will be a trip to your neighbor's to borrow some.

Baking powder is made up of 50% acid and 25% alkali. The acid used may be a phosphate or a tartaric acid. If one teaspoon is used, the resulting baking powder is called a tartaric baking powder. The alkali used is baking soda. The starch is used to absorb any excess moisture and prevent the chemical action starting in the can.

If your recipe calls for two teaspoons baking powder, the rule is to substitute one teaspoon cream of tartar and one-half teaspoon soda.

The general rule given for the use of baking powder is to use two teaspoons baking powder to each cup of flour. This may seem a large amount to you but this rule calls for level measurements. The heaping measure that is used so often contains double the level measure that it used in the recipe.

One teaspoon soda is required for two cups of sour milk. It is also recommended that an additional teaspoon of baking powder be added for each cup of flour.

If eggs are used, the rule is to decrease the amount of baking powder by one half teaspoon for each egg. The egg-white holds some air when beaten up, so that there is not the same amount of leavening agent required.

While these rules apply to all flour mixtures, there are slight variations when other ingredients are added. When Graham flour or fruit is added, the same grain is not expected. Have you ever tried adding raw apples to some of your recipes? Apple sauce is frequently added but it makes a nice change sometimes to add small pieces of raw apples. Try this muffin recipe and I think you will find it very successful.

APPLE MUFFINS

1½ cups bran
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup diced apples
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup sweet milk
1 egg
Pinch salt
Mix and sift the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add the bran and mix all the dry ingredients. Peel and core the apples. Cut into small pieces and add to the dry ingredients. Beat the egg and mix with the milk. Add to the dry ingredients and add the melted butter last of all. Put in greased muffin pans and bake in a moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes.

The Wings Of Desperation

The Case Of Brazil And The New Regime

Events in Brazil itself will have to clarify the situation. Meantime, whether the new regime is to be regarded merely as another dictatorship of a familiar pattern or as an entering wedge for Fascism in the Western world, it seems clear that it owes its existence in large measure to the economic adversities which have beset Brazil.

Despite its great natural wealth, that country has suffered heavily from depression. Its greatest crop, coffee, has been a drug on the market. Its farmers have experienced bitterly hard times. Some millions of its people, lacking any earthly possessions, have been sunk in misery. The burden of its foreign indebtedness has been heavy and its external bonds have been frequently in default.

Once more we have an illustration of the fact that dictatorship, whether old-style or new-style, is never the free choice of a contented people. It comes into power on the wings of desperation.—New York Times.

Beauty Is Revealed

When Dust Is Removed From Statuary In Westminster Abbey

Visitors to Westminster Abbey, recently opened to the public following removal of the Coronation robes, have been amazed by the transformation in the chapel of St. Edmund and St. Thomas, on the south side of the ambulatory.

Gone is the atmosphere of antiquity, no trace of grime and dust. Monuments, tombs and effigies placed in the chapel generations ago have a striking appearance of newness and walls have been restored to their original color. "Just an ordinary cleaning," attendants assure inquirers.

For instance, the elaborate canopy of the tomb of Sir Bernard Brocas, executed on Tower Hill in 1400 for plotting against Henry IV, now is snowy white. Before it was a dull slate color, streaked with black.

German Reparations

United Kingdom Has Received $610,000,000 In Payments

Lieut.-Col. John Colville, financial secretary to the treasury, questioned in the House of Commons, said the United Kingdom received $122,000,000 ($610,000,000 at today's rate of exchange) in reparation payments last December.

The aggregate of sums the United Kingdom received on account of war debts, excluding debts from the Dominions and colonies, was $71,000,000. The aggregate of the amount the United Kingdom paid the United States in respect to the war debt, including token payments, was $2,025,000,000.

"I had continuous backache for four years. I looked on the black side of everything. Now, I write with extreme gratitude for what Kruschen Salts has done for me. The freshness with which I start my day's work is perfectly marvelous. After seven days of Kruschen, I felt better and could get up immediately, without any special effort. Will Keep It Trimmed

Sir Hubert Wilkins Not Sacrificing His Distinguished Beard

There are many sacrifices imposed upon explorers by ruthless Arctic elements, but separation from his distinguished beard will not be one of them, Sir Hubert Wilkins admitted at Edmonton.

Although famous Arctic adventures often have been beard men, formation of ice in the facial foliage usually has persuaded them to discard the trimmings while in sub-zero regions.

While scoring the suggestion of de-lacing mixture, the famous gentleman-adventurer admitted he was carrying a razor and clippers to the Arctic and the beard would be trimmed short during his far northern sojourn.

Six Provinces Favor Dominion Insurance For Unemployed

Ottawa.—With six provinces agreeable to Prime Minister Mackenzie King's unemployment insurance proposal and three more demanding greater detail, the next move will be with the government here.

Premier Dymally, of New Brunswick, made public a letter in which he told Mr. Mackenzie King his legislature would have the final word on the proposal, but he indicated the legislature would require full details before making its decision.

This was the third request for particulars of the bill Mr. Mackenzie King proposed in his letter to the nine premiers dated Nov. 5 to bring down at the next session of parliament. Premier Albert, of Alberta, was the first to make such a request.

Replying to Mr. Aberhart, the prime minister said such details would be given to parliament. The first essential, he said, was to get agreement from the provinces on a necessary constitutional amendment.

Premier Dupuis, of Quebec, while declaring a government was in favor of unemployment insurance, wrote for greater detail and added his province was not disposed to surrender its autonomy.

In view of the multiplicity of these requests for more information, a change in method of procedure may be adopted.

Originally the prime minister's intention was to obtain from the provinces their consent to a constitutional amendment that would enable the Dominion to enact and administer a national unemployment insurance system.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia have already signified their willingness to forego provincial prerogatives in order to facilitate the proposed Dominion legislation.

New York.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Antarctic and Arctic explorer, in a letter to the New York Times praised the courage of Sir Hubert Wilkins and his companions, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon of Toronto, and Al Cheesman, Port Arthur, for their hazardous Arctic flight in search of six lost Russian flyers.

"Flying over the Arctic during the winter night is pioneer work in the strictest sense of the word. . . . But it can be done and all of us wish Wilkins and Hollick-Kenyon, with his pilot, the best of luck," wrote Byrd.

French Authorities Carry Out Raids On Secret Organizations

Paris.—Proposed "military headquarters" of the French Rightist organization in Paris was uncovered as authorities carried out raids in an attempt to run down a suspected link between the organization and monarchists.

Authorities announced leaders of the plot against the Republic had been between 5,000 and 6,000 secret militiamen enrolled, of whom 1,500 were stationed in Paris. All were believed provided with arms.

Following the arrest of General Edouard Dussigneux and Eugene Delecluse, officer of the Weekly Courier Royal, personal mouthpiece of the Count of Paris, the son of the Duke of Guise, pretender to the throne of France, was raided.

In a luxurious Paris residence on the Avenue de Villars, police uncovered a secret arsenal. There the conspirators apparently planned to establish the military government of the city when they rose to overthrow the Third Republic.

In its cellar police found a miniature military storeroom, containing 12 automatic rifles, nine guns of foreign make, a Hotchkiss machine gun, nine cavalry muskets, nine hunting rifles, 250 loaded grenades and about 14,000 cartridges.

Owner of the residence is Pierre Parent, an architect. He was arrested at the Chateau de St. Leger, near Rouen, with his cousin, M. de Bremonville, and sent back to Paris for questioning.

Several documents were seized when authorities searched the editorial rooms of the Courier Royal.

May Be Licensed

B.C. Government Is Seeking Control Over Fire Sales

Victoria.—The British Columbia government sought a measure of control over what are billed as "fire sales" and "bankrupt sales" of merchandise.

A bill, introduced into the legislature by Attorney-General Gordon Wimmer, would provide for licensing of persons conducting "fire sales" and "distress sales."

Under terms of the bill it would cost $25 to hold such a sale for 30 days, $50 to keep it going for from 30 to 60 days and $75 for from 60 to 90 days.

Only one such license could be granted to any one person in a single year unless the license inspector was satisfied that the license was required by reason of actual damage as the result of a fire.

No persons would be allowed to advertise or put for sale at any "closing out sale" goods which were "not part of his regular stock-in-trade."

Anyone who conducted a distress sale while under suspension or while his license was cancelled would be fined $100 a day for every day of the sale. Other violations would carry a penalty of $300.

Every application for a license to hold a sale would have to be accompanied by a statement containing full details of stock and its condition.

Discuss Air Mail

Canadian And U.S. Officials Will Hold Conference

Ottawa.—Canadian and United States air mail, postal and state department officials will hold a general conference in Ottawa, Jan. 10, to discuss conditions between new trans-Canada air mail lines and United States lines.

It is certain, that between Great Falls and Lethbridge, but the question is to be settled in whether it is to be operated by an American, Canadian or joint company. It is possible United States air mail to Alaska may go via this route to Edmonton and White Horse but United States officials are divided as Pacific coast points are urging the Alaskan service should go to the British Columbia coast to Skagway.

The disadvantage of that route is prevalence of dangerous winter fogs and requirement of heavy seaplanes. Against this is weighed the wilderness between Edmonton and White Horse.

Many other questions relating to exchange of air mail between the two countries and other international connections will be dealt with by the conference.

May Retain Nationality

Canadian Woman Marrying Foreigner May Keep Canadian Citizenship

Ottawa.—By virtue of regulations effective since January, 1932, a Canadian woman marrying a foreigner may retain her Canadian citizenship if she elects to do so. Her Canadian status is abandoned only if she chooses to adopt the nationality of her husband.

Attention of government officials was drawn to information given the British House of Commons by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden when he expressed the opinion Canada had not adopted legislation of this type.

Mr. Eden told the house of the Australian and New Zealand legislation providing a British woman, although married to a foreigner may elect to retain, while in those countries, her full citizenship rights.

Literary Awards

Lord Tweedsmuir Presents Medals For Canadian Achievement

Toronto.—The governor-general's annual literary awards were presented for the first time by Lord Tweedsmuir at Canadian poetry night, sponsored by the Canadian Poetry Magazine.

The medal for general literary achievement went to the late T. B. Robertson for his newspaper writing in the Winnipeg Free Press.

Bertram Brooker, Toronto, was awarded the medal for fiction for his novel, "Think of the Earth."

The Sennar prize for poetry, given shortly before her death by Mrs. M. M. Howard of Toronto, was presented by Lady Tweedsmuir to Prof. George Herbert Clark, Kingston, Ont.

Six Canadian poets gave readings from their work. They were Katherine Hale, Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, Wilson MacDonald, E. J. Pratt, Prof. Clarke and Nathaniel Benson.

Cattle Prices

Show Decline Over Last Year At Royal Winter Fair

Toronto.—Prices on market cattle auctioned at the Royal Winter Fair showed marked declines from the previous year.

A grand champion steer exhibited here by University of Alberta, of Edmonton, brought 50 cents a pound against 75 cents in 1930. Reserve went at 40 cents, compared with 60 last year.

Market men regarded the prices as satisfactory when the present shaky condition of livestock trading is considered.

Best group of three steers from the C.P.R. department of natural resources at Calgary sold at $10.35.

Unemployment Insurance

Details Of System Not Being Given Out Until Later

Ottawa.—Details of the Dominion government's proposed national unemployment insurance system will not be given until the necessary legislation is brought into the House of Commons, Prime Minister Mackenzie King advised Premier Aberhart of Alberta.

Mr. Aberhart sent a telegram to the prime minister stating his government would favor anything beneficial to workmen but would require more specific information before agreeing to the plan. Mr. Aberhart also made some suggestions for financing the plan.

Japan Takes Control Of All Chinese Cable And Radio Facilities

Shanghai.—Japan has seized control of all Chinese communications facilities in the Shanghai area, in which most of China's means of communicating with the outside world hitherto have been concentrated.

To do this Japanese representatives entered the International settlement to assume charge of post office, cable and radio administrations and broadcasting stations hitherto operated by the Chinese government.

Whether this meant establishment of Japanese censorship on all Shanghai's postal and telegraphic outlets was not immediately clear. It was feared serious international complications might arise if Japanese tried to control Chinese lines of foreign cable and radio companies.

(Such control, however, would be a logical result of Japan's contention she falls her to all Chinese communications rights in the Shanghai area.)

(The foreign companies, including the Canadian Commercial Pacific Cable Radio Corporation of America and Mackay Radio, British Eastern Extension and Danish Great Northern Cable Companies, by contracts with the Chinese government, agreed to receive outgoing messages only from the Chinese cable and radio administrations and to submit to Chinese censorship.)

London.—The Shanghai municipal council has not divulged what stand it will take in connection with Japanese demands to suppress all Chinese activities in the International settlement, Foreign Under-Secretary Viscount Cranborne told the House of Commons.

Weligwood Benn (Labour) implied the Japanese requests constituted a breach of Chinese sovereignty and asked the foreign under-secretary whether the five British members of the council had consulted the British government as to what action they should take.

Lord Cranborne replied he would prefer not to answer further questions because of the "immense difficulty" legal position, but added that to the best of his knowledge the British council members had not consulted the government.

Tokyo.—Foreign ambassadors expressed their governments' interest in Japan's intentions in China while Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared Japan was ready to deal China "a fatal blow" if she did not yield.

The premier declared Japan was prepared, however, to accept any peace move from China, provided

China "shows concrete evidence she is ready to abandon her policy of opposition to Japan."

He rejected the possibility of outside intervention in the conflict, which he said must be settled by direct negotiations between Japan and China.

He hinted Japan might advance as far as Hankow, southwest of Nanking, if necessary to impose her will on China, and strongly intimated an "independent" regime would appear in March, 1938, in north China, now almost completely conquered by Japan.

Irrigation Scheme

Outlines Plan To Control Waters Of Western Rivers

Peterborough, Ont.—A river control and irrigation scheme designed to alleviate drought condition in the Canadian west was outlined here by R. O. Sweeney, Montreal consulting engineer, in an address to the annual banquet of Engineering Institute of Canada.

"To revitalize the prairie provinces and rehabilitate their productive capacity must set to work toward capturing and controlling the ample moisture that now flows from the Rockies via the North and South Saskatchewan rivers and their scores of tributaries to the Arctic ocean," he said.

In the main, his plan called for control of the North and South Saskatchewan and Deer rivers by dams and ditches, and proper control of hundreds of small streams and lakes throughout the entire drought area.

Prairie Prospects

Described As Best Since 1933 For Next Year's Crop

Winnipeg.—Prospects for next year's prairie wheat crop are described as the best since 1933 in a report issued by the Scarit Grain Company, Limited.

Fall precipitation which provides the sub-soil moisture reserve for next year's crop has been normal in Manitoba and Alberta and 80 per cent of normal in Saskatchewan, the report states.

The report says two other factors point to good crops. Generous rains around the end of July and mid-July by the 1937 crop and which, therefore, have gone into the soil, and the fact the fall has been open on the prairies, and consequently the ground was not frozen as early as in previous years, so November precipitation will go into the ground.

British Millers Will Test The Quality Of Rust Resistant Wheats

Winnipeg.—Millers of the United Kingdom will have an opportunity to submit reports on the milling quality of Thatcher and Coronation rust-resistant wheats prior to permanent establishment of grades under the Canadian grain act, it was announced by the board of grain commissioners.

First commercial test shipment of these wheats, 24,000 bushels of each variety, is being loaded in freight cars for shipment overseas early in January.

E. B. Ramsey, chief commissioner of the board, and Dr. W. F. Geddes, chief chemist, expect to go to England to observe the tests.

Though Thatcher wheat has been passed by the board as equal to Marquis and allowed under the grain act to grade No. 3 Northern or better, there has been considerable controversy on its merits.

Coronation wheat, a new variety grown principally in Manitoba under contract, has been licensed for sale as No. 3 Northern or lower. It has not been accepted as equal to Marquis.

At the present time the associated committee on grain research is conducting tests. Dr. Geddes said outcome of these tests and consultation of English millers' report will be taken into account when the committee discusses whether to recommend a nomination as equal to Marquis.

Tests are being made in laboratories in the three provinces and at Ottawa.

Coronation wheat, originally developed by the Dominion Trust Laboratory in Winnipeg a few years ago, was discarded until last spring when Dominion authorities considered possibilities of the wheat as a rust-resistant variety.

Farmers in Manitoba produced approximately 150,000 bushels a year which was purchased by the Canadian wheat board.

ONTARIO'S GOVERNMENT HOUSE MAY BE CLOSED

Chorley Park, official residence of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governors since 1915, shown above, is very much under discussion at present. As long as Hon. Dr. Bruce remained in office, Premier Hepburn declared he would not carry out his promise to close the palatial mansion; but, Dr. Bruce has resigned, and he will now be succeeded by Albert E. Matthews. It is reported that Chorley Park will be closed.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

EFFORTS were made on various occasions to organize a service club in Coleman. The Elks lodge is the only organization that has firmly established itself. It appears that there is not sufficient potential membership to organize additional clubs. In any event, if there is community work to be done, one live organization can accomplish much provided it has the co-operation of the people.

THE ELKS is the only organization that has directly concerned itself with the children. True, its activities are limited, but it has at least shown the right spirit in providing a Christmas treat for the children, and in providing flags at the Coronation celebration.

SPEAKING of young people, there is a lack of trained or volunteer leaders to guide them. Many places have C.G.I.T. groups and Boy Scouts. Coleman did have both these groups at one time, when there were leaders to give time towards training and taking a direct interest in them. If young people run wild, and get into mischief, it is not because they are looking for trouble. Often they just drift into it, because one more dominant than the rest has developed the gang spirit and he becomes the leader. Boys and girls are susceptible to bad leadership as well as good. Coleman is lacking in leaders and public support to provide useful avenues as outlets for the energies of the younger generation. We must not overlook the Girl Guides and leaders.

HASTILY conceived legislation brings evil in its train. Some two months ago the provincial government tried to pass a press gag law, with other arbitrary legislation. The lieutenant-governor refused his assent to measures that all right-thinking people will condemn as undemocratic and calculated to deprive the people of their civil rights. The result is that an appeal has to be made to the supreme court of Canada which will probably cost the daily and weekly newspaper publishers of this province from $15,000 to $20,000 in litigation expenses. When the government first came into power it clamped a license on every newspaper; then it attempted to abolish certain forms of advertising, such as liquor and beer, though receiving a handsome revenue from the trade, and finally it wished to confiscate space in newspapers to publish its own propaganda, and to impose restrictions on publishers and news writers which savored more of the sixteenth century than the present times. Naturally the newspapers objected, and they will be put to the expense of combatting legislation that would eventually enslave the people to the government.

It is just another demonstration of the fact that the press often has to fight the battles of the people at large to prevent pernicious legislation being put into effect. They have to pay, quite dearly too, in the fight to maintain British freedom.

THIS world can never be made right by force, nor by fear, nor by power. In the long run nothing conquers but ideas, nothing governs but the Spirit.—LEACOCK.

WHEN the Western Farmer has a good crop which can be sold at a price that returns him a profit, the benefits are wide and many. The railway and the local storekeeper, the tax collector and the elevator company, the automobile dealer and the radio manufacturer—all these and many more are affected favorably when the farmer has a surplus remaining after his year's effort. Even cotton goods are purchased—as likely as not the product of this company. So the weavers in the town of Magog, P.Q., get more work when wheat crops and their prices are good.

LIKEWISE this company must share its prosperity with a great diversity of people. The employees, who are mostly from the Eastern and Quebec farms of a generation or two ago, are today users of products of other farms because they are working in the factories to provide cotton goods for farmers and other Canadians both East and West. As our city population grows, Canadian agriculture becomes less dependent on the uncertainties of world markets for farm products.

CANADIAN industry and Canadian industrial workers are the Canadian farmer's most dependable customers. Dominion Textile Company Limited, because of an unexcelled record for steadiness of employment, is through its 7,000 employees and their families, one of the most dependable portions of that dependable market.

Young Boy Great Artist

Critics Declare Exhibit In Paris Gallery First Class

Paris has discovered a Mozart of the palette. At the age of eight years, Gerard Singer has on exhibition in a large Paris gallery a series of water colors and drawings which the critics unanimously term first class. Gerard Singer received no instruction; his natural instinct approaches that of Dufy and Matisse.

Gerard Singer has never seen the sea, yet his marines are among his best works.

The gem of the exhibition is his sliding scene among high mountain peaks. The faithfulness of his drawing, the harmony of his white tones and the movement of the skider arouse astonished admiration of the spectator.

Most curious is that Gerard Singer has neither the appearance nor the tastes of an infant prodigy. His appearance, his habits, are those of a little boy indistinguishable from many others. Also, far from spoiling his gift by flattering his precocity, his advisors have wisely decided to let his talent develop naturally under patient and persevering labor.

A Timely Warning

List Of Measures To Prevent Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

As low a concentration as 25 parts of carbon monoxide in 10,000 parts of air is sufficient to cause death in from three to 10 minutes. Dr. Gordon Jackson, M.O.H., Toronto, warned in listing measures against accidents in connection with "the invisible death."

"The chief source of carbon monoxide is probably illuminating gas, which, according to life insurance companies, is responsible for more than 90 per cent. of the deaths attributed to gas poisoning," he states in his report to the board of health.

"The practice of warming up motor engines while the garage doors are closed, and its often fatal result, is an every-day occurrence," he went on. "Motorists who persist in this are actually inviting death."

To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning, he listed the following warnings:

- (1) Never run motor indoors without opening garage doors.
- (2) Never sit in car for prolonged periods with windows closed and motor running.
- (3) Never get under a car, the motor of which is left running.
- (4) Keep radiator fan-type heaters closed when travelling slowly, or if following closely behind other cars.
- (5) Have carburetors adjusted for complete combustion, rather than for pick-up and power.
- (6) Never use rubber hose connections on gas appliances.

Emergency treatment for carbon monoxide victims:

- (1) Remove the patient quickly to the open air. Speed is essential.
- (2) Send for medical aid at once.
- (3) If breathing is stopped or feeble, at once start artificial respiration.
- (4) Keep patient in recumbent position, and apply heat when possible.

To Retain Land Fertility

Alberta Municipal Convention Wants Trees Grown On School Land

M menace of drought's encroachment upon sections of Alberta now free from it was seen by delegates to the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal districts. Resolutions aimed at constructive measures to retain land's fertility was adopted.

Drought and dust storms are becoming more prevalent each year, and the drought belt is working its way northward, bringing with it incalculable injury to the country, one resolution said. As adopted it asked the government to adopt constructive measures immediately to save the land, asked the department of education to instruct school children in protection of bird life, and urged that remaining school lands be not sold but, instead, be used for tree growth.

It was urged also that farmers with 10 or more acres of bush on any quarter-section be encouraged to retain that bush and that the area be exempt from taxation. A companion resolution said that, because soil-drifting is becoming prevalent on some lands still clasped as arable, and since no tax reductions have been offered as inducement to leave such lands seeded in grass, the government should make tax-exempt arable lands which are placed in grass for periods of from three to five years, with details of the plan to be left in the hands of the field crops commissioner.

British Immigration

Excess Of Settlers Coming To Canada Over Those Returning To Britain

An indication that the flow of emigrants from the United Kingdom to Canada and Australia was resumed to some extent in 1936 was given by figures in a written reply by the Dominion Secretary to a question asked in the House of Commons. In 1936 the excess of emigration to Canada over migration from Canada to the United Kingdom was 7,262. The excess to Australia was 1,260.

CHRISTIAN REST

"Golden text: Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Matthew 11:28. Lesson: Matthew 11:28-30; Hebrews, Chapter 4. Devotional reading: Revelation 22:1-5.

Explanations And Comments

Christ's Rest for Burdened Hearts, Mt. 11:28-30. Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Matthew 11:28. Lesson: Matthew 11:28-30; Hebrews, Chapter 4. Devotional reading: Revelation 22:1-5.

The Gospel of God's Rest, Hebrews 4:1-11. The last words of the preceding chapter (verses 17-19), read: "And with whom were they displaced?" Was it not with them that sinned, whose bodies fell in the wilderness? And to whom aware he that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that were disobedient? And we see that they were not able to enter in because of unbelief. Now in the beginning of the fourth chapter the writer argues that these words imply a divine promise of entering into God's rest. Throughout history God had held out to the world the vision and ideal of rest and peace, but up to the present the great promise of God had not been appropriated by humanity. The people of Israel might have inherited it, but their obstinacy and blindness led them to revolt. The psalmist repeated the promise in his day and generation, but once again the people refused to grasp it. The unfulfilled promise is still available for Christians, if only they will seize the opportunity of making it their own.

The word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith. Faith is simply the soul's grasp, a larger or a smaller act according to the largeness or smallness of the grasp; of one size for a fact of another for a friend, of another for a principle, but always the soul's grasp, the entrance of the soul into its true and healthy relationship to the object which is offered to it.

Position Is Secure

No Danger Of Porters Being Replaced By Hostesses

With the advent of hostesses on railroad trains comes also the prediction that the Pullman porter with his spottish jacket, his toothy grin and his "Yasuh, boss" will soon be as extinct as the buggy whip. Don't believe it. As long as traveling salesman ride the rails and as long as congenially loquacious gentlemen still congregate in the smoker, there always will be a Pullman porter, lurking somewhere around, says the Kitchener Record.

Hostesses may be "chic" and they may have "personality plus" as the roads advertise. But you couldn't slip half a dollar into one of their palms and get that upper 12 changed magically into a lower seven.

And when a bright-eyed young hostess pokes her head into the berth to announce, "Thirty minutes to Montreal, sir," then that will be going too far. The porter still has his place on trains.

Prospect For The Cancer Patient

A former president of the United States was found by his doctor to have a small rough spot the size of a quarter dollar on the roof of his mouth. Microscopic examination revealed the presence of cancer. The entire half of his upper jaw was promptly removed in an impromptu hospital established on a vessel in New York Harbour. Within a month the President had been fitted with an artificial jaw and had delivered an important message to Congress. He remained well until his death from another cause 15 years later. It was not until after this event that the public learned for the first time that the head of the nation had been ill or that he had had an operation.

The astounding success in the treatment of cancer by surgery; its cure in certain areas by means of X-rays and radium; the determination of governments, medical and hospital authorities and of voluntary organizations to conquer the disease, lend courage to the victims of cancer and relieve the obsession created by its seeming prevalence.

The greatest obstacle to the cure of cancer is in diagnosis and treatment. This delay is deplorable. The pathologist in the Mayo Clinic, says that 30 to 50% of cancers of the breast, 42% of cancers of the large intestine and 75% of those of the stomach, seen in that clinic, are inoperable. In spite of the delay, the American College of Surgeons had collected authentic evidence of nearly 30,000 cases of cancer cured for periods of five years and upwards.

The facilities for general education in disease of all kinds are better than at any former period. The prospects for the cure of cancer were never so bright. No disease, with the possible exception of tuberculosis, has created such an atmosphere of interest; no single one is so much discussed in public.

There is a curious lethargy and fatalism in the minds of some persons concerning this malady; such persons regard a diagnosis of cancer as a verdict of death. Such a view is all nonsense. There must be on all hands a will to conquer cancer, a will that has done so much to conquer smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, malaria, cholera, tuberculosis and the plague. Cancer is no longer a hopeless disease.

It will be well worth your time to read how this mine was found—and what it means to-day to Manitoba and Saskatchewan, because nearly 650 residents of these provinces are employed.

As a record of mining effort from 1881 onward in the West, and a personal visit this summer to Flin Flon, the story is worth preserving. Over 50 photographs were taken for this story.

"Now let me see," said Grig, mentally taking a horse-census of the community. He wagged his large round head, and his lips moved, then, suddenly, he said, "Ralph!"

"Beg pardon?" said Ernest.

"I must see a man," said Grig. "I think he will let me have just the 'ore you want. Would you mind keeping an eye on the place while I'm gone? My old lady would do it, but she's in the 'ospital with our new twins."

"I don't know anything about bars," said Ernest.

"Oh, that's quite all right, sir," Grig assured him. "All my customers knows what they want, where it is, and 'ow much to pay. Be back in an' a mo."

He puffed off down the high street, trilling "Kiss Me Again," a 220 pound ruck.

Ernest eyed with misgivings the beer pumps and the array of bottles, and prayed that no thirsty Pennytonian would drop in for a quick one while he was the incumbent of the bar.

Nor did one for a full six minutes, and then a dirty girl came in, plainly in a hurry. She appeared to have recently emerged from the lubrication pit of a garage for her khaki overalls were splattered with grime, and her face looked as if she had been using axle-grease for rouge. Carrotty hair straggled messily from under a stained cap which looked as if it had never been new.

Ernest stared at her and she stared at him.

"Do I look funny?" she asked.

"Yes," said Ernest, involuntarily. "Wasn't that, not very funny?"

"Thanks," she said, "small mind."

"Beg pardon?" said Ernest, uncertain whether she was giving an order or a description of herself.

"Small mind," she repeated.

"What is?"

"Ale, of course," she said.

"Yes, yes, of course," said Ernest, as he groped for some clem to the location of the mild ale.

The girl watched him.

"New here, aren't you?"

"I'm not here," said Ernest, who hadn't had much practice talking to girls, "that is, I'm here but I'm not here."

"Let's forget all about it," said the girl. "I'm in a tearing rush. May I have my drink, please. If you push down the right-hand gadgets you may accomplish something."

Ernest depressed the pump-handle and fluid and foam gushed into a pewter mug.

"Thank you," said the girl, and emptied the mug. She laid three coins on the bar.

"I can hardly say that you draw a beautiful beer," she said. "Too much froth."

She tempered the rebuke with a smile.

"I'm not an expert, I grant you," said Ernest. "The fact is, I'm an American."

"The fact is," cut in the girl, "I'm a girl."

She was gone before Ernest could fathom the inwardness of the remark. He heard outside the growl of a stubborn motor, and then heard it chuff away.

"She could tell by my accent, I suppose," mused Ernest. "She had a nice voice herself. I guess she might be sort of pretty if somebody scrubbed her for a couple of days. I liked the way she smiled, too. I wish—"

A whistled arpeggio heralded the return of Grig.

"Ralph is 'ere," he announced.

"Bring him in," said Ernest.

The host of the Happy Gander exploded into bellows of laughter.

"Ralph is a horse," he said.

Ernest Bingley had some cause to doubt the truth of this statement when he went outside and gazed upon Ralph who was contentedly nibbling at the iron lamp-post to which he was tethered.

He answered the specifications as to size, for he was quite the biggest horse Ernest had ever seen. He looked as if he had been designed by a ferry-boat architect. He had percheron hips, a balloon body, and a neck so long and supple it suggested that his mother had been frightened by a swan.

At the end of the neck was stuck a head which looked as if it belonged to a smaller animal, part horse, part llama, and had been attached to Ralph, by mistake, in the assembling room.

Roughly speaking, Ralph was white, but a purist might have objected that he was not unmanfully white, for his hair was speckled with archipelago and solar systems of freckles.

Ernest surveyed him in some dismay.

"Will he do, sir?" asked Grig.

"He'll have to, I suppose," said Ernest, "although I must say he isn't exactly what I had in mind."

"Do you wish to start for the castle once?"

"Yes."

"Very good, sir. I'll take up your luggage and have your room ready for you."

"Thanks."

Ernest approached his mount with the intention of swinging into the saddle in the easy, masterful manner of a Scout hero, but when he essayed so to swing he discovered that either the heroines were more athletic than he, or the horses were less lofty than Ralph. Although Ralph remained as stationary as the wooden horse of Troy, Ernest could not scale his extensive and prominent flanks and in the end had to be assisted into place by the obliging Grig. Once aloft Ernest had some of the disquieting sensations of a green goat on his first trip to the crow's nest.

"There you are, sir," said Grig.

"Yes," said Ernest, a little shakily, "I'm here. Now where is the castle?"

"Just go down the high street, sir, take the first left hand turn, and remain on the dirt road. It will lead you straight to the castle gate," Grig told him.

"Thanks," said Ernest. "Off we go!"

But off we did not go. Grig cast off Ralph as if he were a tug, but Ralph did not budge from his mooring, but remained immobile, pensively licking the paint on the lamp-post. Ernest bent a tap to Ralph's ribs with his heels, but he might as well have tried to impart motion to the Rock of Gibraltar. Giddap, cluckings and exhortations did not cause Ralph to so much as twitch. Grig joined the siege and belabored Ralph's conspicuous currier with resounding thracks of a meaty palm, but Ralph ignored physical assault and verbal pleadings alike.

If a motor car stalls, or a horse balks anywhere in the world, inevitably one or more helpers will congregate and offer advice, usually bad, to the perplexing driver. When Ernest, abetted by Grig, finally ascended to the summit of his steed, not a soul was in sight, but now a crowd—a crowd for Pennyton at any rate—gathered. A small boy with a neglected nose tried to tickle Ralph into action. Ralph tittered a little but did not stir. A bumpkin in a butcher's apron, who was escorting two quacking ducks to their doom, suggested that a bonfire be kindled under the recalcitrant Ralph. The suggestion Ernest vetoed. Ernest felt moist and foolish. Ralph remained impassive.

When into the scene hobbled a whinkey rustle on two canes. In the bee-like buzz of Somersethire he observed,

"That be Ralph. I know he."

Ralph nodded casually to him.

"Wants his beer, he does, said the rustle.

"That's right, Jarge," chorused the onlookers.

"Fancy me forgetting that!" said Grig, as if it were the most natural thing in the world for a horse to refuse to start unless primed with beer.

Grig disappeared into the Happy Gander and presently emerged with a full pail of bitter ale.

Ralph saw the pail, and showed teeth like the keys of a spinnet in a pleased grin. It took Ralph but three and a quarter seconds to absorb the beverage. Then he gave a snort, a shake, and a hiccup, and launched himself into space. Down the high street he went with Ernest bouncing on his back like corn in a popper. Ralph nickered and whinied in a festive way and now and then turned his rubbery neck and leered at Ernest. Somehow Ernest managed to steer a charger around the left turn and into the shady lane which led to the castle. Once Ralph seemed to make a light lunch of ivy and privet, and once he paused in the deer-park of the castle to ogle, coyly, a passing doe; but in due course, they neared the castle port-cullis.

The sight of that noble edifice caused Ralph to slumber and grow skittish. He began to pirouette and prance and even to stagger a little. Ernest adhered to his saddle first by a gripping Ralph's copious mane, and then by encircling his elastic neck with two desperate arms.

His entrance to Bingley Castle was not precisely as he had planned it, but, in any event, there was a

In the somewhat tomblike library of Bingley Castle, a big room lined with big books bound in buckram and morocco, three people sat on three stiff chairs, bestriding them as if they were horses. The eye was caught first by the figure of Captain Emma Duff-Hooper, who wore the most correct riding clothes Savile Row can produce, and in his case it took some crafty producing for he had grown only one way, namely up, being so far over six feet that his friends had lost count, and being scarcely wider than a dwarf's front door.

Captain Duff-Hooper had passed through Sandhurst and the cavalry into a smug ancestral name a few miles from Bingley Castle, where he lived the life of a country squire with a housekeeper, forty pique, a brigade of hounds, some horses and the conviction that the pursuit of the flet foot is the highest form of human endeavor. He was thirty-four, fancy-free and buck-toothed.

"Of course," he was saying, "you really should not have backed these bills of Gerald's, you know."

"No good locking the stable door after the milk is spilled, and being ever it is one says," returned George Christopher David Hugh, twenty-third Earl of Bingley. "After all, I was at Rugby with old Gerald. He always sat next to me in classes, he at the foot and I just next. I always felt I owed him something, for, but for him, I'd have been at the foot."

Race For Higher Speed

Silver Bearings For Aeroplanes May Replace Rabbit Metal

Silver bearings for aeroplane engines were promised by a chemical discovery announced at the University of Indiana.

The aeroplane silver parts are planned as a new step in the race for higher speed. Tests have shown silver is better than rabbit, the usual metal around whirling shafts.

The silver is "soft" against steel. It has less friction, it stands greater heat, it lasts longer. But until the Indiana chemical discovery there have been difficulties in the way of cheap, quick production of these much sought "silver heads" of speed.

The problem has been to plate silver directly upon steel, plated silver would form the inner lining of the steel housing around a shaft. The Indiana chemists have discovered how to electroplate silver directly upon iron and steel.

Letter For Sherlock Holmes

London Postman Had To Decide Where To Deliver It

Baker Street is not what it was in the days of gas lamps and hansom cabs and the postman with a letter in his bag for Sherlock Holmes may well be puzzled. The Post Office London Directory gives no help in finding the rooms that Holmes shared with the amiable Dr. Watson at "221B Baker street"; although it shows that the gap between premises numbered 219 to 225 is filled by Abbey House.

This is the headquarters of the "H. H. R. Building Society" and several business concerns also have their offices there. So the postman who recently found himself carrying a letter with a foreign postmark to "Mr. Sherlock Holmes" at the old address seems to have concluded that an ageless detective might have relinquished his bee farming in Sussex to start a new career as a company director. At any rate, he picked upon the Abbey House, and delivered the letter at the office of the H. H. R. Building Society, on the third floor. Whether this was a neat official joke or the result of some mysterious processes of reasoning would have formed a pleasing subject for a professional discourse by Holmes.

It was found that the letter came from an elderly woman in a small town in Denmark, who respectfully asked for a little charitable assistance for herself and her husband in hard times which have come upon them through business misfortunes. These two penmen sought the detective's help in starting a shop and the writer concluded: "I am quite sure we shall have the pleasure of hearing from you."

Such letter had been there to receive it, would probably have appealed to the generous impulses of the wizard of Baker street. He might even have bundled off Dr. Watson (without his revolver) in the next steamer to try to locate the moribund case on the spot—London Times.

A Mystery Disease

Real Origin Of Infantile Paralysis Still Puzzling Doctors

A Canadian doctor who reported the theory that the virus of infantile paralysis might be carried into the air by the pollen of ragweed or other plants. The opinion was made public at a recent meeting of the medical directors of insurance companies at New York. Canadian medical men generally are not inclined to place much confidence in this theory. However, they seem fairly well agreed that the virus gets into the human system through the upper passages of the nose and the effect of ragweed or other pollen might be to obstruct drainage, capable of carrying the infantile paralysis germ away. It is pointed out also that infantile paralysis has appeared in midwinter, which would cast doubt on the theory that it is a pollen-borne virus.

In recent years there has been some persistence in the opinion that the poison came from the earth and was contained in dust which invaded the passage of the nose leading to the brain. That also is pure theory. The mystery of the coming and going of the disease is not made less puzzling by the situation in Ontario, so critical a few weeks ago. The disease seems to be disappearing now, concurrent with the advent of cold weather and frost. It is scarcely heard of any longer and no one can explain what has happened to divert a malady which was such a menace during the late summer. Evidently it is seasonal, being virulent in the intense heat of the late summer and disappearing as winter approaches.

The study of this disease is one of the interesting projects of scientific medicine. The epidemics stimulate extra research. No doubt the mystery of this malady will be revealed in due time and a cure discovered—Sarnia Canadian Observer.

Television Advertised

Got Big Boost During Armistice Service In London

Of the 3,000 owners of television sets in England, large numbers were tuned in to the Remembrance Day service, and they saw and heard in their own homes exactly what occurred.

The momentous hour of eleven o'clock was announced by the booming of Big Ben in Westminster, the television sight and sound camera was focussed on the cenotaph. In homes equipped with television sets the astonished fans saw a man suddenly plunge forward from the place in the direction of the Royal party only a few yards away. They saw him seized with alacrity and overcome by the police. They saw their courageous Sovereign stand motionless and calm. They heard the wail of the mourner: "All this is hypocry—your re-deliberately preparing for war."

Thus was an unfortunate but understandable episode fraught with terrifying possibilities lifted from the scene of action and set down in the home. The shock and thrill of those few seconds can only be imagined. When the danger had passed and the beholders had again caught their breath, we feel sure that television set owners realized that they had been indeed favored by good fortune.

And what an advertisement for television!—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Gay Lights For The Farm

Might Be Used As Traps For Crop-Damaging Pests

We are intrigued by a dispatch from St. Paul which holds out the prospect of a time not far distant when a drive through the country at night may present the appearance of a gayly lighted street carnival with red lights in one field, blue lights in the next and green in yet another.

Such is a development in farming predicted by Dr. A. A. Granovsky of the University of Minnesota, based on his experiments. Already Dr. Granovsky has one gayly lighted farm in operation near the outskirts of St. Paul.

Back of it all is Dr. Granovsky's discovery that certain insects are attracted by particular wave lengths of light. When his research is completed Dr. Granovsky believes it may be quite possible to lay down rules for setting "light-traps" for various kinds of crop-damaging pests.—Buffalo Courier Express.

Musical Festival

the fact that with the discontinuance of music teaching in Coleman schools by Mr. W. J. Moffatt, owing to the board not sanctioning the required appropriation for tuition, it had the effect of lessening the interest of parents who otherwise would have attended the festival.

Mrs. Farmer's tentative financial report showed that the revenue would possibly meet the expenditure for the 1937 festival, but it must be remembered that there is always required a substantial balance on hand to carry through the necessary work entailed in preparing for the next festival. It is therefore necessary that increased financial support will be essential if the festival committee is to efficiently function.

Mrs. Farmer after giving her report, asked the committee to consider her resignation as secretary-treasurer. Ever since the festival was organized in 1925, she had been connected with it, and had enjoyed the work, first as assistant to the late Mr. F. J. Smith, and during the last five years as secretary. She felt that possibly a new appointee would inject added enthusiasm and interest. However, the committee were unanimous in wishing to retain Mrs. Farmer, as the work had been carried on in a most efficient manner, and it was moved by Mr. Chappell that her resignation be not considered by this committee. In any event, stated Mrs. Farmer, whether I remain as secretary or just as a committee member, I would not give up my work for the festival, in which she had always taken keen interest.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor G. Pattinson, and those present were: L. L. Morgan, G. Cruickshank, W. J. Moffatt, W. H. Moser, T. Gushul, W. Kerr, H. T. Halliwell and J. E. Upton. Comforts for Canadian Soldiers in Spain

A. E. Smith and Sergeant W. Dent made an appeal on Wednesday evening in the Community hall for funds to purchase comforts for Canadian soldiers serving with the Mackenzie-Papineau battalion in Spain. Mr. Smith went over with a consignment of comforts from New York to Spain in July, and Sergeant Dent was for some months in Spain with the Loyalist Army. He was wounded and returned to Canada to help raise funds for the Canadian soldiers. Over $30 was subscribed at the meeting, and a subscription list netted another $7.50. A small committee was organized among the women to knit socks. Mr. Smith said that another $5,000 shipment of comforts is being made to reach the soldiers for Christmas.

Mayor G. Pattinson acted as chairman of the meeting, and there were about 100 present.
